But in the constant battle against apathy
We suddenly found we were involved.
New awareness generated enthusiasm for improvement.

In our concern we re-evaluated
many things:
Traditions, loyalty . . . freedom.

And out of this concern came changes
And from the changes - improvement.

Ideas only thought in silence once or whispered
Were stated in bold action.

As the time passed
We grew in many ways
And perhaps these personal changes
Will ultimately mean more.
For as each man learns to understand himself a little more
He is able to know his brother better:
His needs, his hopes, his problems.
We learn in many ways, of many things.

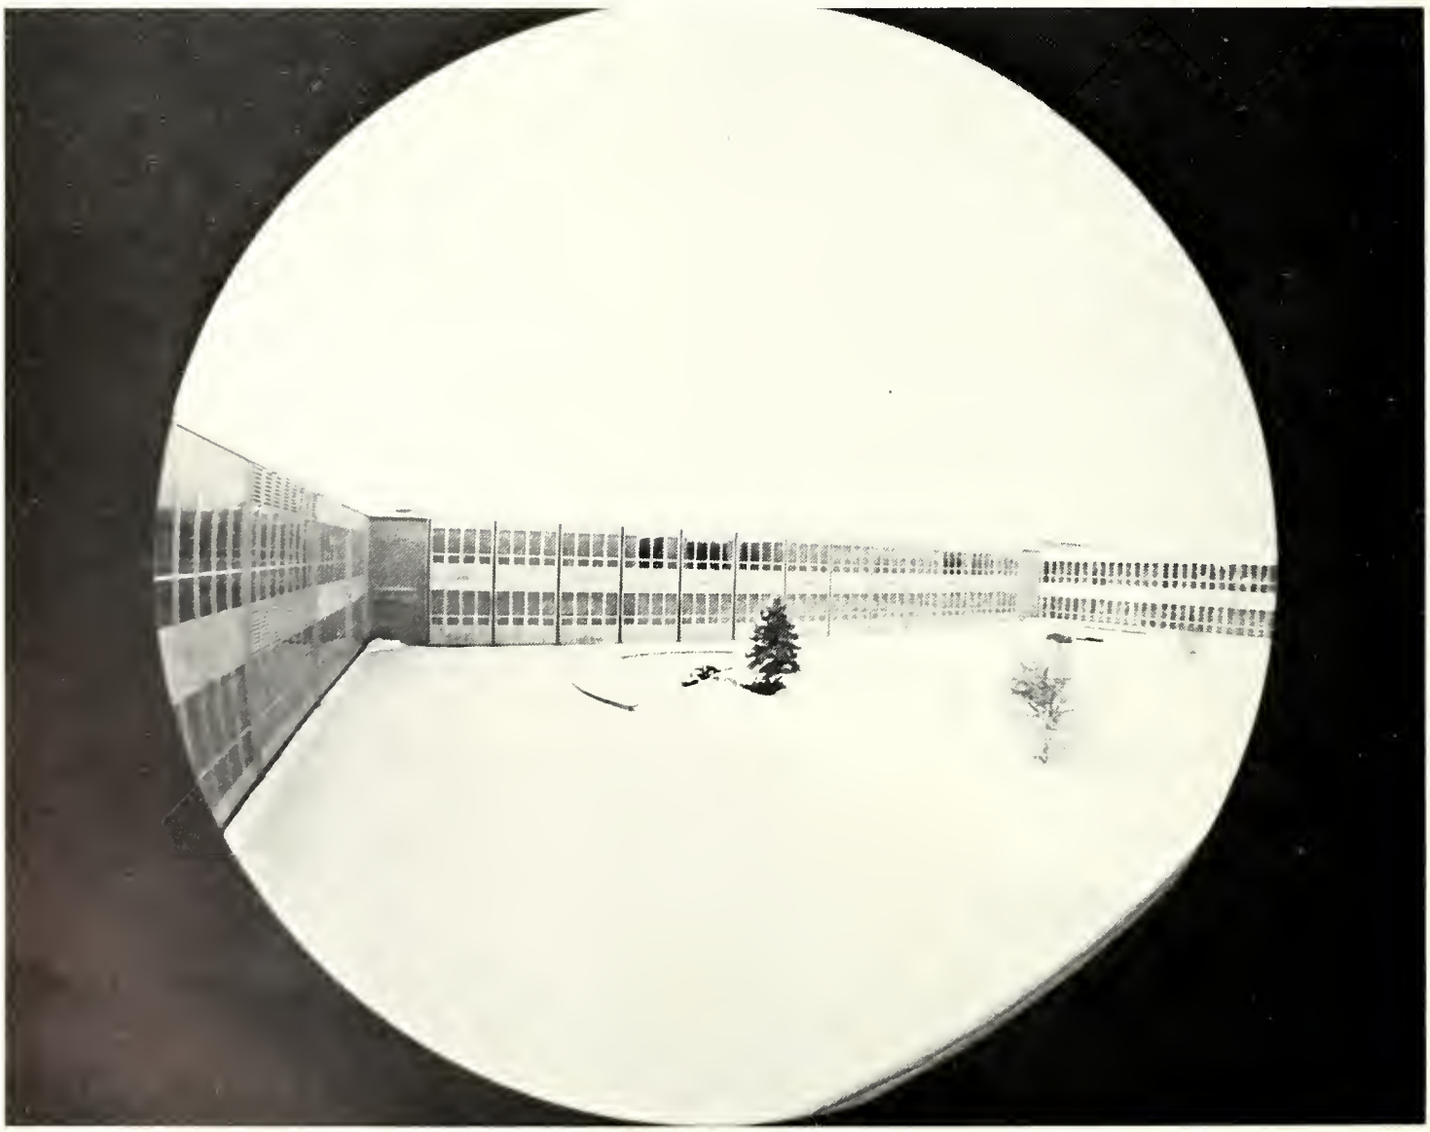
Some apparently meaningless.



Homecoming

As the flaming brilliance of Indian summer is quietly cooled with the crystals of October, as the seasons change, so do students. New experiences of school now, blend with hazy remembrances of the past, and will themselves someday be memories. The excitement of Homecoming, the surprise and activity, will, for each individual with the passing of time, be condensed and be perfected to form one impression of school life, held tenderly amid the obscurity of the mind, occasionally recalled by a picture or a song.

Queen Jan Flickinger

Electric excitement charged the stars. Timidity and awkwardness flushed the unknown and the insecure. Complacency and tenderness filled old friends. The music floated through the night, unrecognized, and incidental. A moment was shared.

Homecoming Queen Jan Flickinger reigned at the October semi-formal. The theme, "The Age of Aquarius", reflected a hope for the coming year, which brought 1970 a little closer.

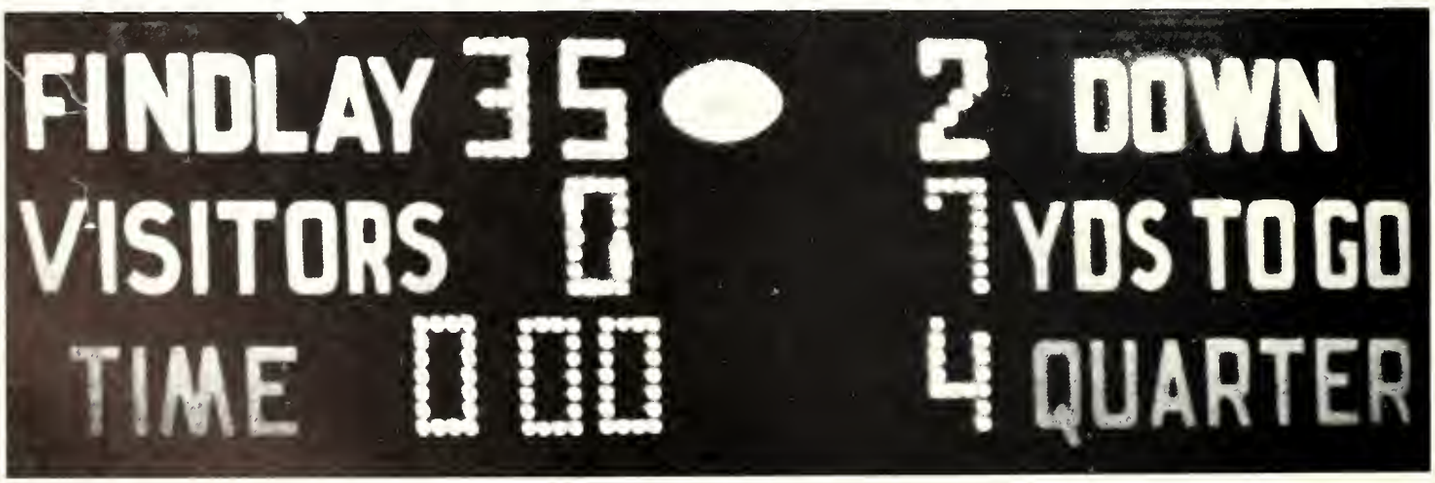
Football Centennial

This was the centennial year of American football. Although, unlike many games, this sport was not the result of a man sitting down with the intention of creating the rules and objectives, but was instead an evolutionary development from ancient kicking contests. American football had chosen November 6, 1869 as its official birthday, for on that date Rutgers and Princeton met to battle away with a pigskin, odd-shaped ball. They played with few rules recognizable today, a little protection from bruising tackles, but this only goes to show that football is in a state of constant creation.

From its beginnings, football has been associated with the schools, as part of the educational process. This aspect of the sport has remained. Findlay High gridders were honored at a half-time celebration commemorating the anniversary. The team selected Marge Morgan as football queen. She was crowned at the ceremony.



Sno-Queen Jackie Lizotte

Mistletoe Magic

The girls of Findlay High got their last chance of 1969 to ask that certain special guy for a date, as the GAA sponsored a winter formal. With the reverse in dating protocol in effect, both boys and girls learned to appreciate their partner's difficulties in asking and accepting or refusing a date. Some boys were ensnared in the two-offer trap. Many girls were overcome with indecision or fear. But judging by the turnout, these minor difficulties did not stop them. The floor was crowded, the music was loud, but somehow she saw nothing but him. The conversation raced up and down hundreds of alleys, or drifted off as a couple danced in silent thoughts.

Jackie Lizotte, senior, was chosen as the queen. Her rising laugh and lively ways added to the gaiety of the festival. "Mistletoe Magic" caught each girl's fancy and convinced the boys.

Each individual holds, somewhere in his mind, an ideal, an aspect of perfection. Unfortunately, most will never realize dreams of utopia, but by staying dreams they do serve as catalysts for action and put meaning in the journey. This struggle to pull these hopes from the clouds of vision on to the solid earth of reality provides the theme for the musical Camelot produced by extremely talented and versatile students of the music and drama departments in March.

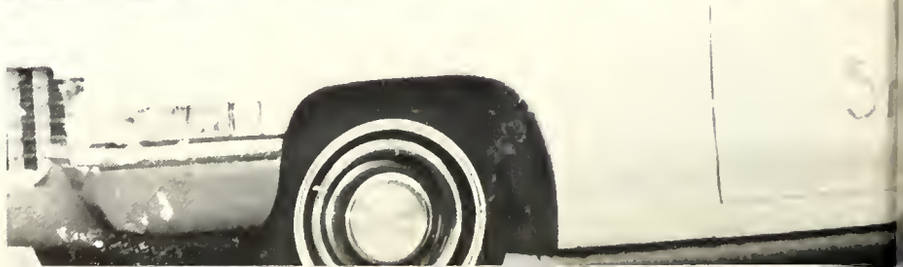
Carmen, Gun and Steve

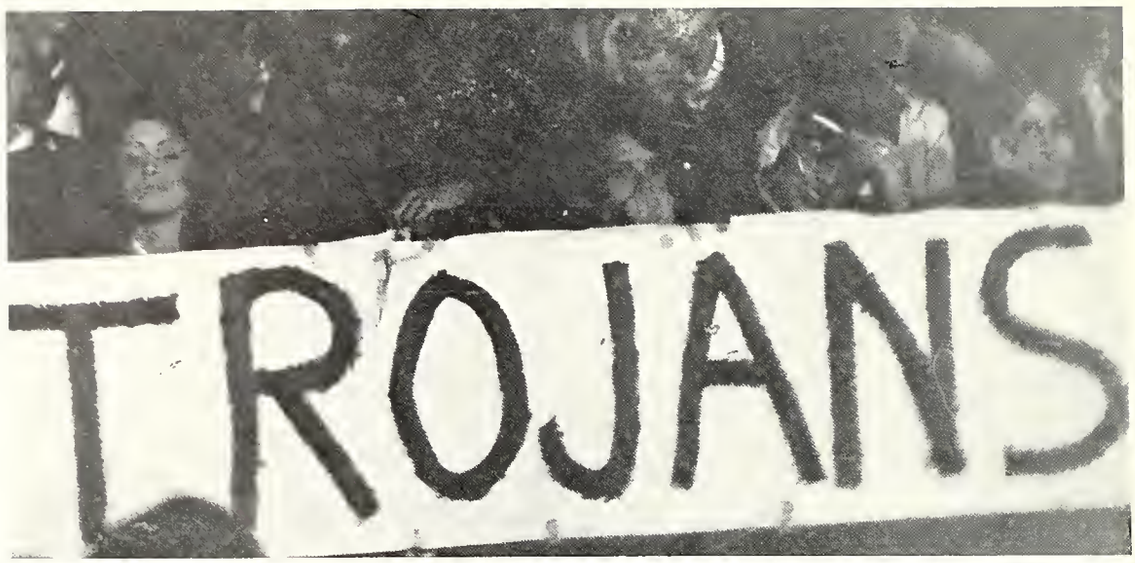
They lived among us for a year. We learned to love them. They were different from us. only because of their foreign accents. We saw through their presence how much alike we all were. We changed them. They changed us.

Carmen. Gunther and Steve experienced every phase of American life from the family through the school. They enriched the community and were enriched by it. They saw the US first-hand. and were able to view their own countries in a new light, giving them an understanding of both. We learned about Costa Rican dances. Uraguayan soccer teams. the conflict in Cyprus, and got a perspective of our country through foreign eyes. They were but momentary visitors. yet more than that. They were lasting friends.



AFS Weekend

Having three exchange students at FHS made it possible for even more students than usual to have contact with foreigners from other lands. With the idea of broadening the horizons of as many students as possible, the AFS Club hosted an international week-end for a dozen foreign guests. The activities of the week-end included parties and picnics, but mainly it was an informal gathering for talking, singing, joking and learning.



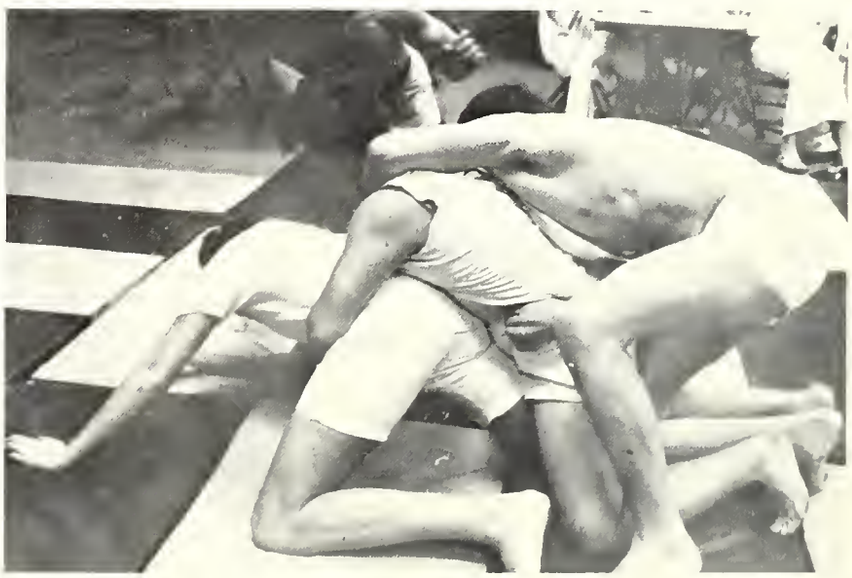
Summary of Sports

TROJAN

Banquets

Believing that experience is the best teacher, several students decided to recreate the times they were studying about. Members of the second and third year Latin classes became Romans for an evening at the annual Latin banquet. Some enterprising seniors from Mrs. Sink's English classes donned Elizabethan garb and held a raucous feast.

The young citizens of the short-lived neo-Roman state devoured paltry poultry and imbibed vinum innicens under the direction of a Caesar (Myron Shank) and Calpurnia (Jane Hymes) for a night. The English supped on roast beef and pork while being entertained by court jesters, harp music (compliments of Judy Courtney), and a skit of a take-off on Macbeth.



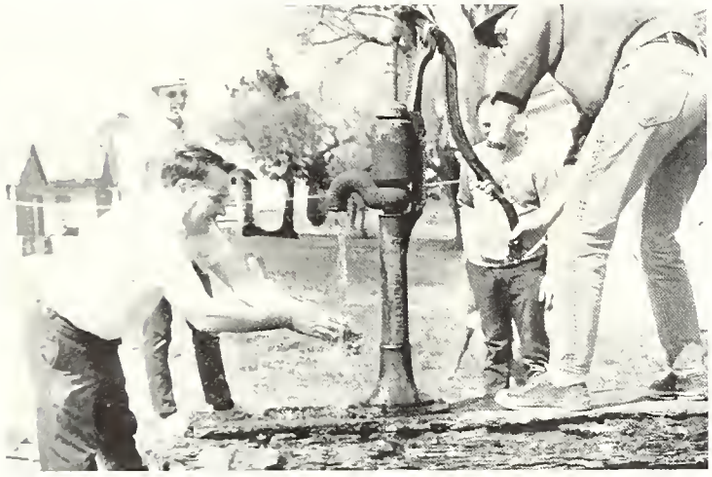
Talent Show

Many students put their abilities in the spotlight at the Student Council talent show this year. Besides soloist and combos, the entire junior honors English class performed an original skit about pollution for which they were awarded the show's prize. A new junior high division was opened this year to widen the field. The acts were varied and the competition was stiff.

Proceeds went to the AFS Club to help support foreign students to Findlay and FHS students abroad.

Earth Day

With the entrance of a new decade, a new cause arose that was championed by thinking people around the world. It was not space exploration, nor a world-wide election, but a fight to save the world from the poisonous products of man's progress that threaten to destroy the beauty of Nature and the ability of the seas and the land to support life. On April 22, 1970, a major portion of the student body and faculty of FHS joined the battle against pollution. In a symbolic campaign on this Earth Day, hundreds arrived at school on bicycles, or roller skates, by foot or canoe.



Senior Ecology Day

Petitions were circulated, and pleas were raised, as members of the Class of 1970 tried to get the administration to grant them a "skip day". Although this request was out of the question the seniors were given a special opportunity to do something constructive. An honest effort to prove that Earth Day had been more than an isolated, insignificant incident, nearly six-hundred seniors participated in Ecology Day to help clean up the city, and to beautify it by painting . and planting trees. Real concern was coupled with responsible action to make the endeavor a success. (The seniors were rewarded for their efforts by a picnic and a free afternoon.)

Prom Preparations

Many innovating fund-raising programs were initiated by members of the junior class this year to finance its major social event, the junior-senior prom. Carnations colored with special sentiments were sold and delivered to the intendes by members of the class of 1971. A campaign for donations called "Pennies for Prom" was also carried on throughout the year.

A student planning committee composed of John Edelbrock, Sara Parriott, Beth Monroe, Steve Tille, and Nancy Ricker worked with class advisors Mr. Froelich and Mrs. Krueger. The theme they arrived at was "They Slay Dragons, Don't They?" bringing back memories of Medieval Days.

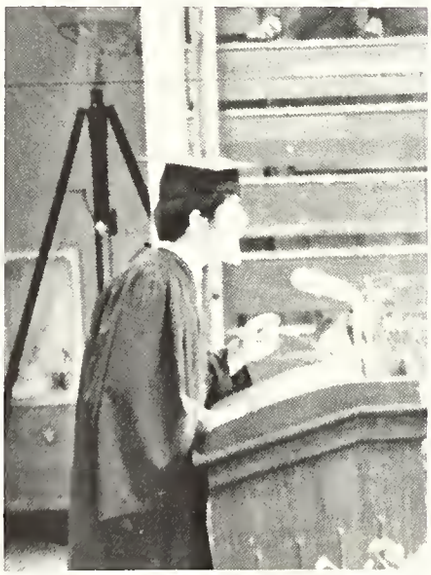
The creative junior decoration committee transformed the gym into a castle of the Middle Ages. Misty blues and greys recreated the mood of the courtyard complete with stars while mock pillars divided the inside of the room.

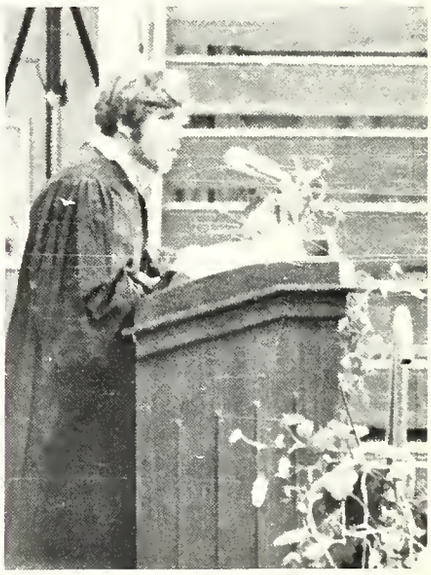
The excitement of young love and new friendships gave the dancers a special mood. The dimly lit room made it easy to drift into special thoughts.

After the dance, post-prom activities included a movie, a fast dance, golfing at the driving range, a casino party and bowling. A breakfast at Camp Berry concluded the all-night festivities.

They Slay Dragons, Don't They?

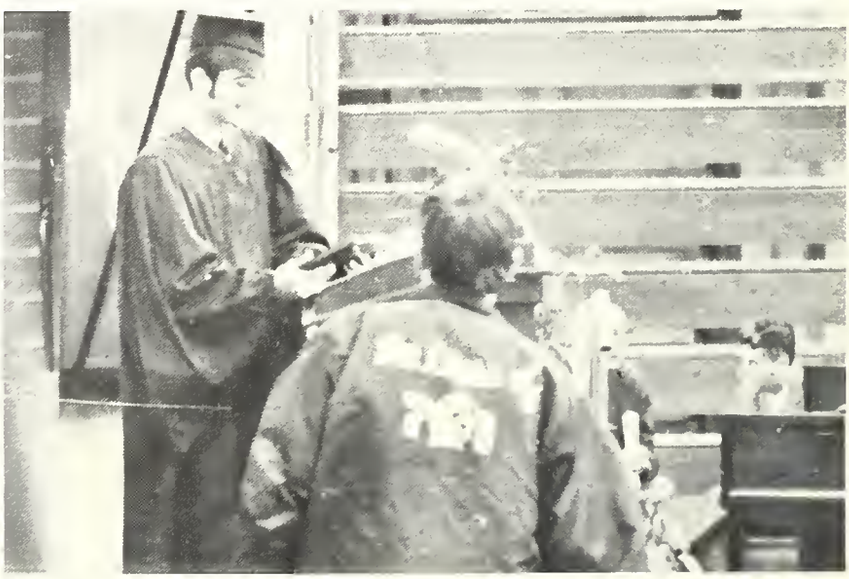
Senior Assembly





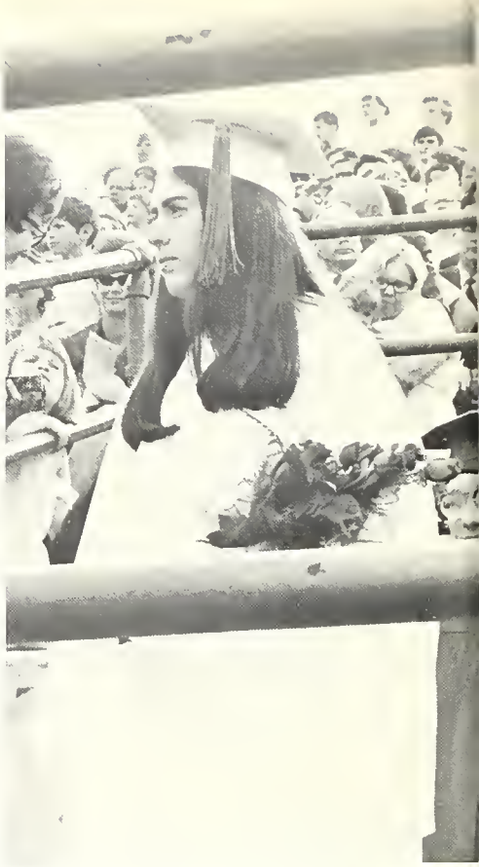
The members of the graduating class of 1970 tried on their caps and gowns for the first time en masse at the Senior Assembly. The choir set the mood by singing "Bridge over Troubled Water," and the four speakers, Ruth Ann Holzhauser, Bill Schuck, Sally Wolfe and Stan Silverstein, delivered messages about the place of the individual in the coming years and what one might hope to accomplish. The turbulent heartbreak of war, the problems of over-population and pollution are facts of life that become plainer each day as the seniors face the task of determining future purpose.

Senior class president, Tom Wall presented the challenge to the leader of next year's seniors, John Edelbrock.



Baccalaureate

"Half Way Warm is Better Than Freezing," the Reverend Terry Bard of the First Presbyterian Church said as he addressed members of the Class of 1970 and their families and friends at the Sunday evening Baccalaureate Services, his point being that all or nothing reasoning was dangerous to the individual. Rev. Bard continued by pointing out that men on earth were striving to become perfect, and that this type of thinking all or nothing at all assumed that man could be perfect. We must never be afraid to try, he said, but we must also learn to accept what seems to be half way measures. Christ's Sermon on the Mount was the Scripture. The high school choir performed.



Flowing gowns of blue and white, bouncing tassels, timid smiles of pride and mighty sighs of relief, and always a tear or two shed for errant nostalgia, recollection, with the graduating class of 1970 filled the Donnell Stadium. "What Is Past Is Prologue" was the theme expanded upon by the commencement speakers, Lark Senn, Tom Wall, Sue Sandusky and John Poff.

It has been an exciting time, these three years at Findlay High. As the members of the school board congratulated us, we each had different thoughts, some of the future, some of the past. And although we tend to view this as merely the beginning, what is past is prologue.

This was the second year for Findlay High to have a cross-country team. The season of added experience helped the Harriers improve on the remarkable record of last year's team and shave seconds off their individual times. The squad ended the season with a perfect win record in seven dual starts. The Trojans have not lost a dual meet in the last two years. Findlay took first place in the district meet, and ninth in the regional races, but the Buckeye Conference crown proved to be too elusive for the squad again this year as they closed the season in fifth place.

Junior Dennis Barnes was designated as the Most Valuable Performer on the team, racking up five first place times, including tops in the district tournament. Speedy sophomore Jeff Hochstettler earned second honors for the team, and set the new home track record at Hillcrest Golf Course. Besides creating stars of its own, cross-country running, because it requires speed and endurance, helps keep off-season athletes in top condition.

The team's prospects look very good for next year, too. Six of Coach Didich's seven lettermen will return.

It was a disappointing season for the team, the coaching staff of second-year mentor Bob Bockrath, and the fans. As the clock ticked off the final seconds of the closing game of 1969, the scoreboard digits flickered out the facts of the last Trojan loss for the fall. The pain of mid-August practice and summer scrimmages that took their toll on the squad's personnel would have hurt a little less had the season's memories been colored with more victories for the Blue and Gold, but through it all the team retained its spirit and hope, mainly due to the efforts of the seniors, especially captains Dick Lehman, Rick Martinez, Mike Hocanson and Dave Hoopman.

Junior Varsity

Several dozen sweet, mild-mannered sophomore boys turned out for August football practice. For most students the few final moments of summer vacation fly past all too swiftly: for these young men, they were slowly counted off in terms of bruises and abrasions endured per hour of sweat-soaked practice. And when it was over, these sweet, mild-mannered boys had gone the first step in becoming the fierce, aggressive men needed so desperately by the varsity squad.

In seven contests the JV's battled to three victories, suffered three losses and fought to a draw once. Their defensive play was very good, according to Coaches Heater and Jones, and although offensive savvy came slow, the team began to score more at the end of the season, when the mistakes of inexperience and excitement occurred with less frequency, and as the boys began to work together as a unit.

J. V. Cheerleaders

Three jolly juniors and three spirited sophomores composed the Junior Varsity cheerleading squad. They spearheaded spectator enthusiasm at JV football and basketball games. The girls assisted the varsity cheerleaders throughout the year in promoting school spirit, and were responsible for shaking the pepper out of the adult section at gridiron contests. Mrs. Needler served as advisor to the lively sextet, and with her help they invented and organized their own cheers and routines.

Roundballers

What greater achievement is there for a coach or a team than to build a championship squad. This is exactly what Coach Stozich and his roundballers did this year. With only one letterman returning and four sophomores on the varsity, the prospects of the season would not normally have been too bright; however, when that lone letterman was Greg Lishawa and the three sophomores played together for three years on an undefeated junior high team, then the picture changes. The Trojans ended the regular season with a 13-5 record and went into tournament play where they added three more wins and the sectional crown before being stopped for the district title. Lish was named to the first all-conference team and junior Steve Wenner made the second Buckeye Conference roster. The outstanding senior leaders, Jim Baron, John Poff and Lishawa sparked their teammates throughout the season. The squad's greatest asset was its teamwork. The individual players improved tremendously as the year progressed, but more importantly, they played together as a unit. It was this teamwork that made this squad so remarkable. Its performance has given future Findlay teams something to shoot for.

Because so few experienced players returned to the varsity squad, more sophomores than usual got an early start in first team action. The reserve squad was then able to provide valuable playing experience for boys who would otherwise have had to wait. Even more important was the fact that their winning season (13-5) gave them that taste of victory that hopefully will carry through to varsity play. The highlight of the JV season was, according to Coach Lobb, the team's victory over Marion Harding in double overtime. Judging by the performances of the JV's, it would appear that Findlay High basketball teams will be strong and successful in the coming years.

Spirit

Apathy is a contagious disease that infests many schools and strips them of their vitality. The sextet of varsity cheerleaders sparked the fight against this malady here and proved that spirit was just as catching. The Pepper and Salt Clubs and the Sophomore Spirit Club also helped fan the flames of partisan fervor that made foes dread Trojan Territory and energetic Findlay boosters filled the stands when the Blue and Gold took to the road. The spectator supporters were rewarded by the excitement of having two Trojan teams in tournament competition. Thanks to enthusiastic cheerleaders, spirit is alive and growing at FHS.

For many years it was a simple fact of FHS life that girls interested in competitive sports had to be satisfied with gym-class contests or the vicarious thrill of watching the boys go after the laurels. Of course Findlay has always had a girls' basketball team, which this year compiled a 5-3 record while having but two senior members, but something more was needed. So some interested, highly-developed athletic feminists sought to establish more girls' interscholastic sports programs. They succeeded in realizing a tennis team. Under the guidance of Coach Linda Andrews the girls put forth a 2-2 effort for their first season. It is hoped that more sports will have female squads in the future.

Grapplers

After a slow start the Trojan wrestling squad ended the season with a 7-5 record and an optimistic hope for next year. Seven of the twelve grapplers were first-year men, mainly sophomores, which makes Coach Heater believe that future prospects are good, and the team's improvement was remarkable.

Roger Sheldon led the squad, placing second in Buckeye Conference, first in sectional, and fourth in district meets in his weight class. Don Whitman, Gene Suman, and Captain Bill Spoon took fourth place honors in their respective divisions in the Conference, while Frank Burke copped a sectional second and Captain John Salsbury won third.

The beauty of human strength and agility, known to the ancient Greeks, has attracted more and more spectators to the matches, and encouraged the team by their support.

Their eyes and noses burning with the chlorine fumes, gasping violently for air, their muscles quivering in exhaustion, the members of the Findlay High swim team inhabit the watery realm during many months of the year. In this steamy environment they push themselves to the pinnacle of physical development by constant fatiguing conditioning.

This season was a fairly successful one for the Trojan tankers as they won 7 of their 10 dual meets. They were unable to retain the Buckeye Conference title, however, and ended in second place in that league. The team took fifth position in the district meet.

Individual swimmers and divers distinguished themselves at State and District competitions. Sophomore Jim Kennedy set a diving record at Districts, and placed fourth in the State. Joe Strathman, voted Most Valuable, placed eleventh in the fifty-yard free-style at the State finals.

Diamondmen

Something happened to Trojan athletes during basketball season, they developed a drive to win. Miraculously that momentum carried into the spring, and was a significant factor in the play on the sandlots. According to Coach Curlis, in his second year as head mentor, the team felt it was going to be good from the beginning. The nucleus of the diamondmen had played together in the summer and brought the ACME state championships to Findlay. Somehow that spirit of victory was ever-present with the boys, noticeable in practice and games. With eleven lettermen returning, the team played with the confidence of experience. It was obvious that the Blue and Gold was going far.

They set two goals for themselves: the Buckeye Conference championship and the district title. As the season progressed Toledo Whitmer was anticipated as the toughest opponent. The victory over the Bulldogs inspired the team. The FHS diamondmen stood 10-3 before the tournaments. Their ball-handling know-how, exemplified by Keith Aerni, Best Defensive Player on the squad, and the powerful Trojan bats, led by .400+ hitter John Poff, combined and connected to bring home the sectional and district crowns. However, there seemed to be a mysterious fate surrounding a BC title, for that honor eluded the Diamondmen and every other Trojan athletic team this year.

Thinclads

Calling those who participate in track and field events, thinclads, may be a misnomer for one may catch glimpses of them marshaling their muscles over icy miles, grinding into condition through pouring rain, clad in bulky blue sweatsuits. A successful trackman has real dedication: he goes through painful practice during the changeable, often frigid weather of March and April; and he competes in exhausting events during the most demanding and distracting time of the school year. A dedicated FHS team managed a 7-3 outdoor record this season.

No lettermen returned to the Findlay High tennis team this year. From the outset, Coach Hoover expected this to be a season of building his inexperienced squad. Out of the first twelve matches, the Trojans netted but three victories; however, they clicked to win all four of their last matches and posted a fairly good record of 7-9 for the year.

The biggest factor concerning the team was its youth. The top three men on the squad were sophomores, so, although this year was not as successful as Coach Hoover and his team would have liked, it did give them valuable experience for the coming seasons. And it must always be remembered that the scores and records will fade from the mind, but the memories of the experience and the lessons learned on the court or playing field are the reasons for having interscholastic sports. Win or lose, Trojan athletes have displayed the discipline and courage that make them assets to the school and community.

Tim Pfeiffer represented the team in the state tournament, winning medalist honors. Pfeiffer was also awarded the team prize for the lowest average. Senior Bruce Flack was selected as the most improved golfer. The Ben Hogan Award for a comeback after a serious injury was given to second-year man Tom Drake who overcame critical injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Student Council

New election methods enabled a more representative Student Council to take its place this year under the leadership of Stan Silverstein. The Council attempted to involve itself in the concerns of the school to help improve life at FHS. To this end several new programs were initiated. Heading the list was the abolition of the dress code, making any length hair and mode of dress acceptable. The SC also arranged for FHS to participate in a program of domestic exchange with a New York high school. Some annual council projects took on slightly different aspects: homecoming procedure was changed, an American Indian child was adopted and the Talent Show funds went to AFS.

Blue and Gold

G. Brown, H. Rains, D. Waaland, M. Nannes.

Hard-hitting editor (no kidding, he was really hard-hitting . . . well, he certainly was pointedly satirical in the tradition of Addison and Steele . . . at least he got the paper out on time . . . occasionally!) Mike Nannes, also known as Mr. Efficient, led the Blue and Gold this year. He worked closely with first-year advisor, Mr. Froelich. They changed the format of the paper somewhat from past years, by giving the reporters more freedom for creativity, and by taking stands on school issues. Much space was devoted to editorial comments written by different members of the staff on various problems at FHS. The Blue and Gold was entered in the Northwestern Ohio District Journalism Association contest where it was awarded a superior rating and also judged Best in the Letterpress division.

Five senior members of the B&G were elected to membership in the Quill & Scroll, the national honorary society of high school journalists who exhibit scholastic ability, service and journalistic contribution. Laurie Mires was president of the chapter.

Key Club

The Key Club is an international organization for high school students, sponsored by Kiwanis. The Key Club engages in many activities to help improve the community. Its sole purpose is to give service freely and unselfishly. This year the boys took on the sponsorship of a Chinese orphan in Hong Kong. They were also responsible for the sale of stock to raise money for AFS exchange students, and helped the Civic Music Association in an effort to bring different performing groups to Findlay. Selling the basketball programs at each of the home games, sponsoring an after-the-game dance, and waiting tables at the annual awards banquet were the Club's other notable projects this year. Twelve members from the Findlay club attended the Ohio District Convention in Cleveland. Bob Brenner was president this year; Mike Nannes, vice president. Bob Scott and Dick Kuck served as secretary and treasurer, respectively. Sally Wolfe was sweetheart.

A variety of fare was presented to the FHS theatre-goer by Thespian Troupe 451. The year opened with Thornton Wilder's simply staged drama, "Our Town". The spring comedy, "Thieves' Carnival" was by French playwright Jean Anouilh. Between the two traditional offerings, the troupe displayed their talents in the production of "Please Marry My Nellie", a melodrama, which they took on the road to perform at junior high assemblies. Members of the drama department assisted in the production of the musical "Camelot". Steve Gusler was Thespian president this year. Mrs. Gebhardt was the advisor.

National Honor Society

Those Findlay High students who have distinguished themselves by scholarship, leadership, character, and service are eligible for membership in the National Honor Society. The Blue and Gold chapter of the nationwide organization was revived in May of 1969 by inducting fifty seniors and fifty juniors. In the fall an additional thirty seniors were selected for membership. A spring ceremony added fifty new juniors to the ranks. Membership in the society is recognized by colleges throughout the land, and one senior boy and one girl have an opportunity to apply for an NHS scholarship.

Debate Team

ROW ONE: S. Sandusky, K. Hill, G. Radabaugh, J. Waaland, N. Drost. ROW TWO: Mr. Bell, T. Sheets, M. Sutherin, J. Cecil, J. Poff, D. Moore.

Armed only with keenly whetted minds, a knowledge of international affairs, and a stack of evidence cards, the FHS Debate teams did battle with other high schools from Ohio and Michigan on eight Saturdays from November to February. The top debaters from two classes formed the four-man teams that traveled the forensic tournament route from Columbus to Toledo, compiling a 44-37 record. They took the district championship by virtue of a sudden-death argue-off, and represented Findlay in the state meet. Debate is one subject where the skills of many areas are combined and applied: the logic of mathematics, the artfulness of English, and the factural aspect of social science.

To earn money to cover entry fees and traveling expenses, the debaters sponsored the student-faculty basketball game this year. Besides going to competitions, some team members gave brief demonstrations at Bluffton College and at a Findlay Rotary meeting. Several interested students attended a workshop held at BGSU early in the season. Analytical Al Bell is the debate team coach.

ROW ONE: D. Sink, R. Holzhauser, R. Gephardt, S. Peristiani, C. Aguilar, G. Rotzinger, J. McKinnell, D. Starkey, S. Sandusky, Mrs. Reardon. ROW TWO: J. Cole, R. Doty, N. Miller, L. Mires, J. Ruppert, D. Kuck, M. Rice, M. Golem. ROW FOUR: D. Predmore, D. Davis, J. Kostyo, C. Weaver, B. Masters, C. Erwin, B. Lieb, R. Arredondo, E. Pratt, M. Long, G. Warner, D. Sink, M. Muehlstein, A. Nolan, L. Senn, R. Rawson.

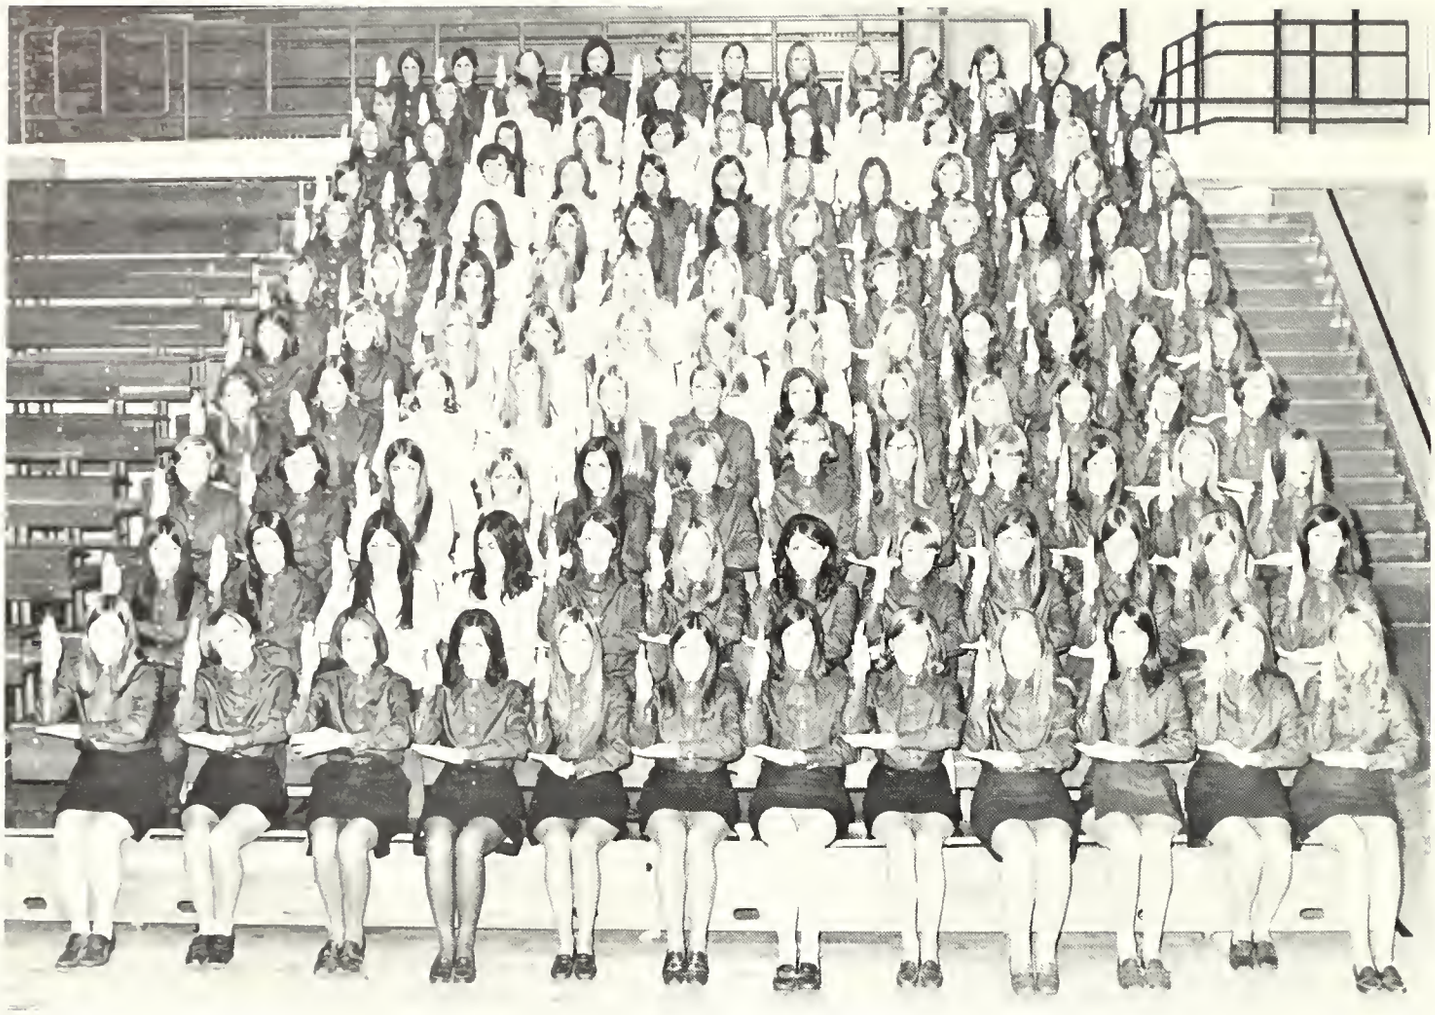
For the first time since an AFS chapter was established here, FHS hosted three foreign students. The guests were Carmen Aguilar from Costa Rica, Gunther Rotzinger from Uruguay, and Stavros Peristiani, who was called Steve, from Cyprus. The entire school benefited by their presence and participation in activities here. The club, made up of students who are interested in learning about other nations, peoples and cultures, was one of the largest and most active in the area. The programs of the bi-monthly meetings were generally slide shows presented by visitors to other countries; however, an effort was made to stay away from travelogues, and to emphasize understanding between people, the basic principle of AFS. The year was highlighted by a weekend gathering held here for exchange students living in northwestern Ohio, and by learning that Jim McKinnell would spend his senior year abroad, a Findlay first. He will live in Germany.

AFS

Leaders' Corps

Leaders' Corps girls served in the locker room for the second year, taking attendance, keeping a supply of clean towels on hand, and taking roll at the showers. Another important duty of the girls was to learn new skills and demonstrate them to the classes. They also led exercise sessions. Many of the Leaders plan careers in physical education and appreciated the guidance that FHS gym teachers, Mrs. Needler and Miss Andrews, the Corps advisors, could give. All of the members of the Leaders' Corps have a real interest in phys. ed. and give valuable service to that department.

ROW ONE: S. Wolfe, S. Morris, J. Lizotte, J. Hutson. ROW TWO: S. Seebon, J. Cole, P. Pieracini, A. Sausser. ROW THREE: B. Monroe, D. Robinette. ROW FOUR: C. Coleman, W. Kimmel.



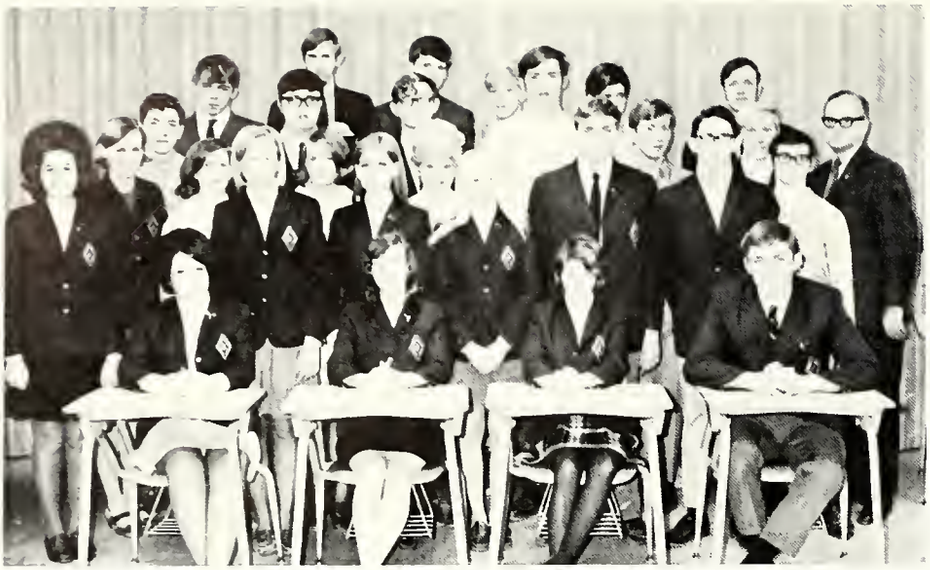
Pepper Club

At Findlay High the words school spirit are synonomous to most students with the words Pepper Club, probably the most beautiful booster organization in the Buckeye Conferenee. Its enthusiastic support of the Trojan roundballers is a boon not only to the spirits of the team itself, but also contributes a great deal to the responsiveness of the fans, all of which add up to make Findlay home courts a significant disadvantage to visiting teams.

This year, under the leadership of president Jenny Compson and with the help of Mrs. Needler, the advisor, the girls appeared in new blouses this year. The club members sold programs at the football games, had bake sales, served the tables at the Fall Sports Banquet, and sold themselves at a Slave Day to raise funds to curb the expenses of accompanying the blue and gold on the tournament trail where their card shows and energetic singing ignited the spirit of the Findlay fans.

Varsity "F"

Bound by a common achievement, lettering in a varsity sport, the members of Varsity F are united by one other factor. They have all survived the odious initiation proceedings, although, most likely, they thought they would never live through them. These horrifying spectacles occur twice a year in a conspicuous public place, Findlay High. The girls often wonder how their men will ever complete the Herculean tasks they are given (but honest, guys, isn't that female sympathy worth it?). This year the club members served as ushers at the home basketball games and again sponsored the annual city-wide Easter Egg Hunt.



Deca I

SEATED: W. Lenhart, L. Groves, D. Angus, R. Swick. ROW ONE: C. Walters, J. Shafer, L. Perkins, C. Heistand, B. Douglas, M. Nuhfer, J. Doolittle. ROW TWO: J. Sherman Manley, C. Frech, D. DeLong Raney, S. Burden. ROW THREE: J. Pressnell, L. Schiltz, B. Hayden, R. Hecker, L. Kessler, D. Pauline, K. Bibler, Mr. Taylor. ROW FOUR: T. Beck, M. Love, J. Salsbury, S. Russell, J. Ebert.

The two DECA clubs are among the most active organizations in the school, and form a vital part of the three-phase distributive education program, challenging their members with competitive activities and engaging in worthwhile civic service projects. Presidents, Rocky Swick and Linda Speer of DECA I and II,respectively, led their clubs as they hosted the District 17 competitions here. Steve Okuly was elected district chairman. The clubs' projects included baskets to the needy, trick-or-treat for hospitalized children, a monthly birthday party at the county home, and the annual homecoming mum sale.

Deca II

SEATED: L. Speer, T. Wentz, C. Long, W. McCoy, J. McCormick. ROW ONE: J. Miles, N. Karcher, N. McGinley, B. Farison, N. Fletcher, M. Letso. ROW TWO: R. Collins, B. England, M. Breitigan, C. Wilson, J. Warren, C. Harris, D. Ferguson, T. Stokes, K. Kiser, G. Kinn.

The purpose of the Future Secretaries of America, the FSA Club is to acquaint those interested in secretarial careers with each other and some of the aspects of these professions. The club here, composed of senior girls, helped operate the concessions stand at home basketball games and held bake sales to earn money for a two-day trip to Chicago. The club also engaged in a service project of sending donations to needy families during the holidays. Debbie Lewis was president this year. Mr. Wohlgamuth was the advisor.

COE

COE, Cooperative Office Education, extends to students in business opportunities to experience actual office employment situations, giving them valuable previews of coming years. Fund raising and competitive activities took up most of the year, highlighted with twelve members of the FHS chapter attending the national convention. Marcia Gibson was president this year.

IOE

The IOE Club was in the organizational stage this year. Formed as an expansion on the old ICC to now include five intensive office education classes in stenography and clerical work, next year it will join a state-wide and national organization. The IOE activities will include competitions similar to those of COE. The main difference between the two programs is that those in IOE remain in school all day. This year the classes took two trips to explore local employment opportunities.

Library and Resource Center Assistants

P. Roseboom, J. Rice, C. Spoon, H. Rains, J. Martin.

On any given day, nearly three-hundred students and teachers use the facilities of the library and resouree eenter, and eheek out about forty-eight thousand books, pamphlets, and magazines per year. Several students help the librarians with the mammoth job of keeping tabs on all the volumes, ehecking them in and out, and taking attendanee. The volunteer assistants worked before and after school and during study mods. The lack of as many regular study halls this year redueed the number of student aides; however, the faithful few performed their duties well, working in the periodieal room and at the eirculation desk in the library and operating the audio-visual equipment in the resource center, along with their other librarian tasks.

FNA

Future Nurses of America is a vocational interest club, most of the members of which are planning a career in the field of medicine. The club's basic programs consisted of speakers from the nursing and medical professions. During the Christmas season a basket was given to a needy family. Throughout the year bake sales were held to raise money for a club trip to Toledo nursing schools. Ann Harrold served as president this year.

Red Cross

Red Cross, with one of the largest memberships of any club at FHS, was also one of the most active in the community, sponsoring five main projects this year: Big Brother helped underprivileged children. Outreach enabled Red Crossers to work at the hospital and nursing homes. Disaster provided emergency training. Voices From Home sent tapes and letters to servicemen, and Hot Line was organized to help solve problems.

The future of a nation lies in the quality of the education of its people. Controlling that education are the teachers. Future Teachers of America is an organization designed to promote interest in the teaching profession and to give guidance to high school students planning to major in education. The FTA Club here visited junior highs and elementary schools this year to learn more about administration. Some of the members attended an FTA conference. At most meetings speakers talked to the girls about teaching.

Audio-Visual

Most students enjoy the change of pace that occasional filmstrip or movie provides in the routine of a typical school day. Mr. Curth and his Audio-Visual crew are the ones to thank for this pleasant experience. They are responsible for keeping all the equipment operational and for getting the right machine to the right room at the right time. They are skilled projectionists, but handle tape-recorders and record players with equal dexterity. Someone is always on call in the A-V room to help in times of crisis: when the celluloid goes on the rampage, etc. Their efforts were rewarded this year by a trip to WBGU-TV.

German Club

The German Club was organized this year for those students interested in the German language and who wanted to participate in additional activities for which limited class-time did not allow. In the educational aspect, the club's members invited native speakers from Bowling Green State University to address their meetings in hopes of improving their own pronunciation and listening ability. Socially, the club had a Christmas party, a Fastnacht party, and a typical German dinner. At these three festivals the students practiced German customs and sampled bohemian cuisine. Mrs. Bumann is the advisor. Meetings were held once a month.

Vocational training is a vital part of the education of those whose high school preparations must provide them with capabilities for immediate employment. Findlay High is able to provide much of this technical background to the young men enrolled in the different programs in the shop area of the school. For them Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, VICA, specializing in automotive trades, welding, carpentry, electronics, and machine shop, provides invaluable supervised educational experience in their future industry-related fields.

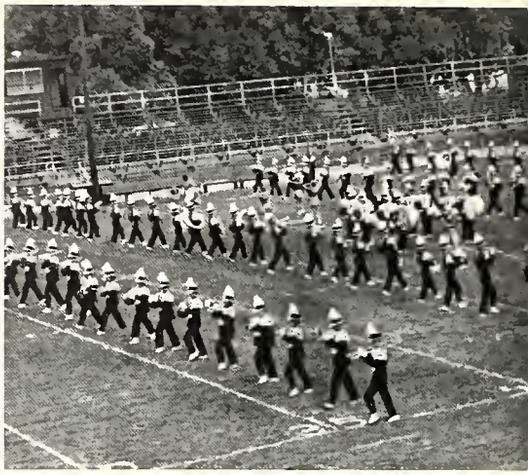
Band



The FHS marching band had a new director this year, and new uniforms gave it a new look as it strutted on the field, but it did not take long to realize that the unit's tradition of greatness had not changed. Long hours of drill in August and after school each day prepared the bandsmen well. They performed exciting shows at all football games, home and away, and marched in several parades.

The concert band also displayed outstanding talent, highlighting its year by performing at the Mid-East Instrumental Music Clinic in Pittsburgh, where it received a standing ovation, the only band to do so. Fund raising for this trip included concerts and peanut sales. The band played a free pop concert after the trip in appreciation of community support, and gave the last traditional Kiwanis concert. A three member band council was added to work with the officers and directors.

The eight twirlers and strutters who led the marching band on the gridiron and the cobblestones were headed this year by two senior majorettes, Gwen Browne and Jeanne Kirchner. Because there were so many talented people on the squad this year, Mike Brinker and Nancy Logsdon were both designated as "featured twirlers". The other members of the squad were Nancy Price, Peggy Richardson, Pam Zimmerly, Tonia King, Vicki Fox and Luann Nalle. All eight performed in new outfits.

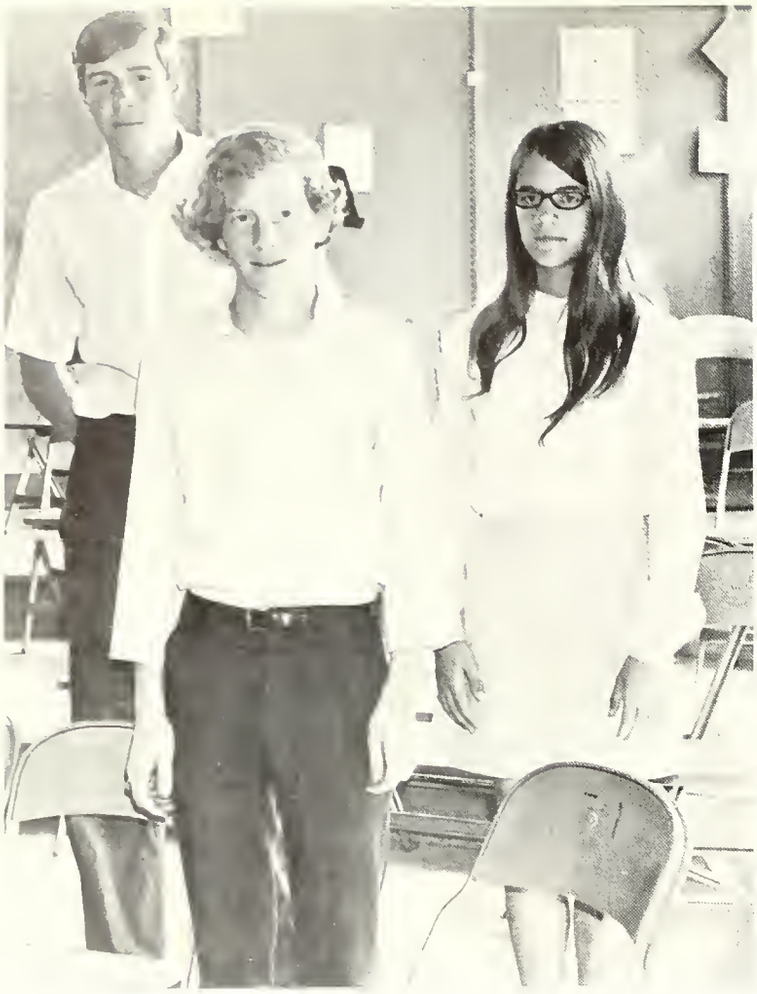
Orchestra

This year's orchestra was one of the finest in the history of the school, according to Mr. Shell, the director. With its members attired in formal dress the orchestra looked as if it were a real symphony, and its performances in seven full symphonic concerts assured the audiences that it was indeed. The orchestra traveled to Pittsburgh where it gave an outstanding performance at the Mid-East Clinic, receiving "Bravos" and standing applause. Twenty-seven members of the full orchestra formed the accompaniment for the production of Camelot. Celia Jones was added to the staff and joined David Hanson on working with the strings. A bit of comedy was added to several concerts by the antics of the string bass octet that performed an original arrangement by Mr. Hanson.



ORCHESTRA OFFICERS: President Dave Chenette, Vice-President Bob Scott, Secretary-Treasurer Becky Kaegebein. Social Chairman Debbie Hutton not shown.

Always recognizable by its smooth blend, the FHS dance band or pep band, as the occasion warrants, appears in various attire (from blue jeans and yellow shirts to tuxedoes and formals) to provide music at almost any event, from basketball games to proms. Its members, among the finest in the music department, volunteer their time to get the experience in jazz and swing performance. Many display their versatility by doubling on different instruments. Mr. Howard directs the lively company with flare.

Dance Band

Choir

One of the largest in recent years, the junior-senior choir was also one of the youngest, but according to Mr. Jefferies, its director, it performed with finesse and a mature sound that comes from experience. From December on, the year was a whirlwind of events. The Christmas season was heralded by many performances of the Carolcers, a select group of superior vocalists. The highlight of the year was the March production of the Broadway musical Camelot, in which choir members displayed both singing and acting proficiency. The choir also participated in the Buckeye Conference choir festival in the winter and in the May Festival late in the spring. The juniors of the choir sang at Baccalaureate and the seniors performed at commencement to cap the year's activities. Individual vocalists also distinguished themselves at the FHS Eisteddfod and at the state solo contest.

Achievements

We live in a competitive society. Someone is forever devising ways to test and measure and compare us. Different criteria for this judgment results in an expression of individual differences, and points out the impossibility of setting a standard for THE BEST. What is hoped by the creators of the tests or other guidelines is that the top scores, or the people who meet most of the requirements will be among the best. The achievements on these pages indicate only a few areas in which Findlay High students have met the challenges of education with outstanding success. Putting the finishing touches on a cabinet you made yourself, playing a phrase of music so expressively that it almost makes you cry, transcribing your dictation in record time, capturing a spark of life with a brush, making a big sale to a hard-to-please customer, all are accomplishments that hold personal meaning but which are often overlooked in the concentration on academics. This year the Rotary Club expanded its awards program to recognize achievements in every department of the school. Not only the best mathematician was recognized, but also the finest business student. And who is to say that one is better than the other? The man who recognizes and fulfills his potential is the greatest achiever, and although we have examples based on a standard, we each must mold our accomplishments to our own standards and abilities.

CONGRATULATIONS

The world awaits you, but remember:

You Mustn't Quit

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all uphill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit
Rest, if you must — but never quit.

Life is queer, with its twists and turns,
As every one of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won if he'd stuck it out;
Success is failure turned inside out —
The silver tint of the cloud of doubt.

Stick to your task, though the pace seems slow —
You may succeed with one more blow.
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems afar;
So stick to your fight when you're hardest hit —
It's when things seem worse that you mustn't quit.

Many memories have been tucked away within these pages. I hope that each picture reminds you of a certain time in your life: a change that has occurred: perhaps quite personal. Consider the mental changes: how you feel about certain issues, certain people. We have saved them all for you to save, discard, or replace at your own disgression.

Every page within this book has a hidden memory for me: one of the staff member who did it. I could not enumerate on all that has happened or how thankful I am to them. Anyway, I prefer a quiet memory.
